SO DIFFERENT . . .

Our paths lead in varied directions. We each study a course for many reasons. Our lives reflect talents, interests, likes, and dislikes.

YET SO ALIKE

Even though we're preppy, musical, conformists, and nonconformists, we are all driven by a strong need to live, to be a part of the flow, a sense of belonging, and sharing in the spirit of support for Central.

SO DIFFERENT . . .

Our school has a heritage that is much a part of Macon's history. Each school has a personality as reflected in its leaders. Lanier A zings with warmth in personality, and too with memories of those hot, hot days. Lanier B emerges boldly and efficiently with memories of the cool comfort of the air conditioning.

YET SO ALIKE

Lanier A and Lanier B are Central High School. Two buildings merged to form Central High School. One school devoted and dedicated to the cause of serving and caring, motivating and demanding that we aren't just getting by, but that we reach to achieve.

SO DIFFERENT . . .

Our school's program parallels with the demands and complexities of society. Students seek enjoyment in learning a number of courses just for the fun of it. Many find it to be a way of fulfilling and channeling their creative forces. Some take courses in preparation for college studies in medicine, law, performing arts, and for further vocational training.

YET SO ALIKE

We all tend to strive for some kind of success. There is a need to dream, to seek, to venture, and to dare to survive the forces and challenges of today's world.

SO DIFFERENT . . .

Central males have set a variety of expectations for their girls — some prefer girls who are subtle, graceful, and poised in mannerisms, their girl should be independent and intelligent. Central females prefer the guy who has values and goals; he should be outgoing and neat. Many females quickly confirmed that looks are important, but being sincere, fun loving, and thoughtful are equally important.

YET SO ALIKE

There is always that one person who is special because of those special qualities. Each person knows what he or she wants in a friend. Both persons seek social and mental harmony. People like people because of those moments shared at school, in the park, at a movie, or because of a simple smile.

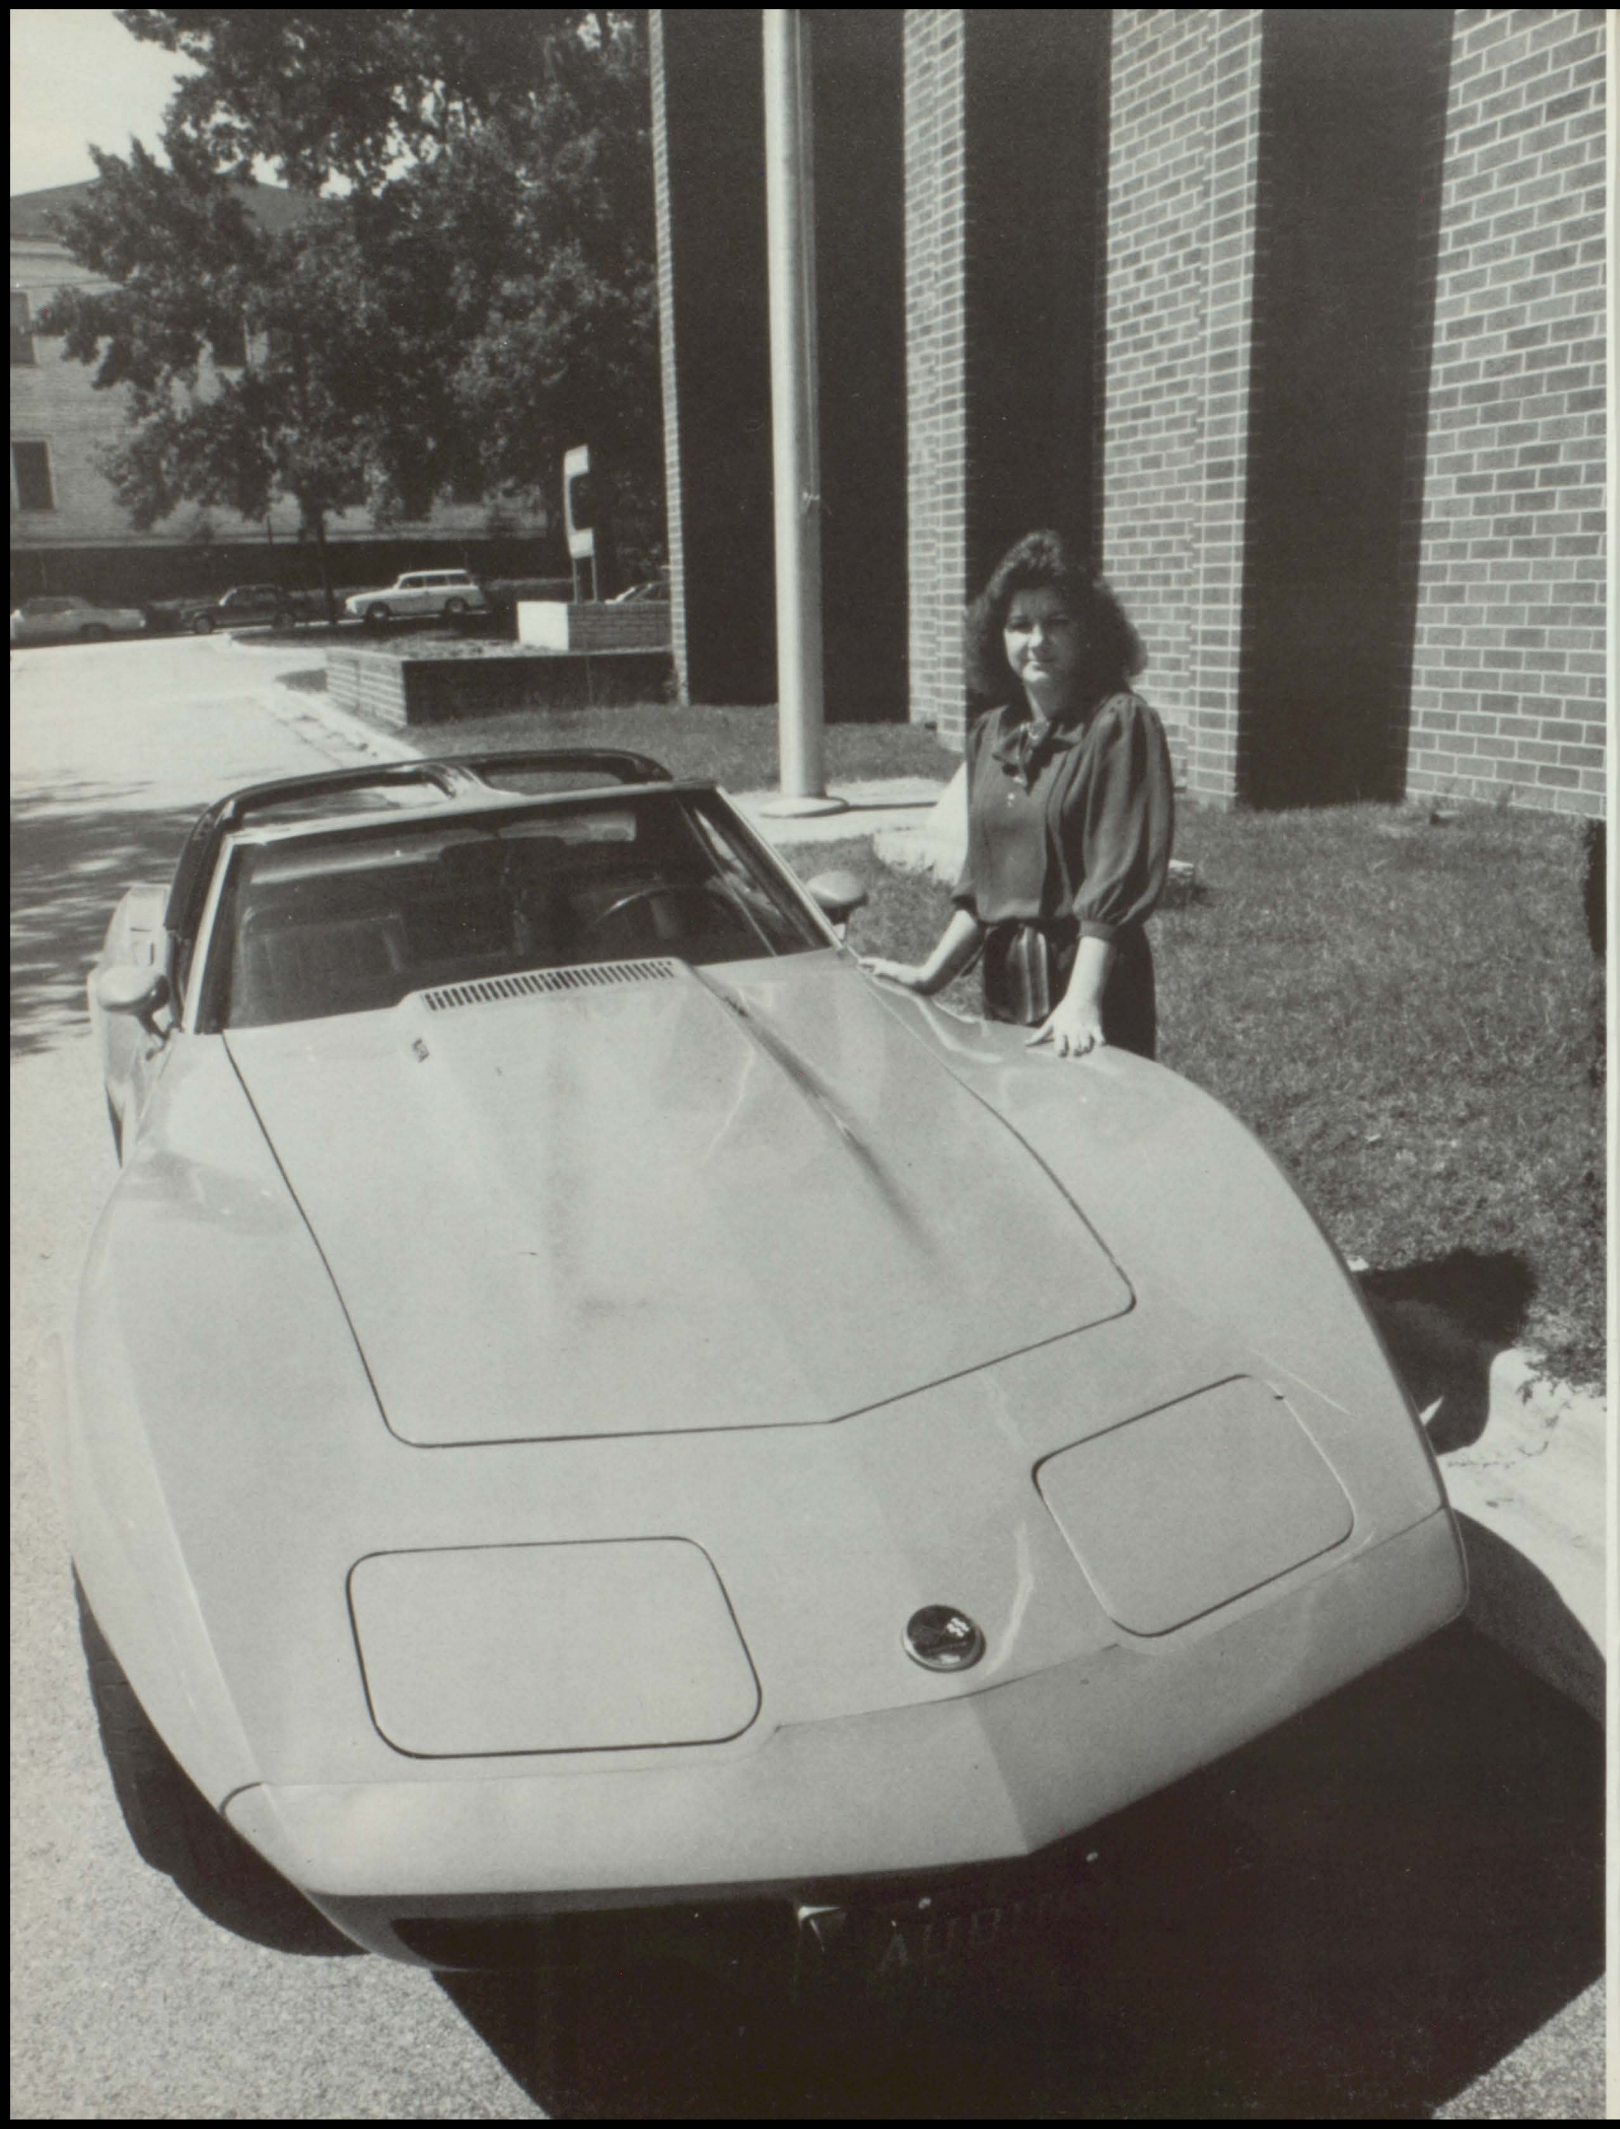

SO DIFFERENT . . .

Students have many different ideas about eating. Some prefer hamburgers, while others would turn their noses up at anything less than a steak. Others may prefer to eat out, while there are still the homebodies who wish to cook at home.

YET SO ALIKE

Whether it's chicken, hamburgers, or pizza, we all tend to take advantage of the many eating establishments. Teens are seen in abundance eating with family and friends. A good meal is something we all enjoy.

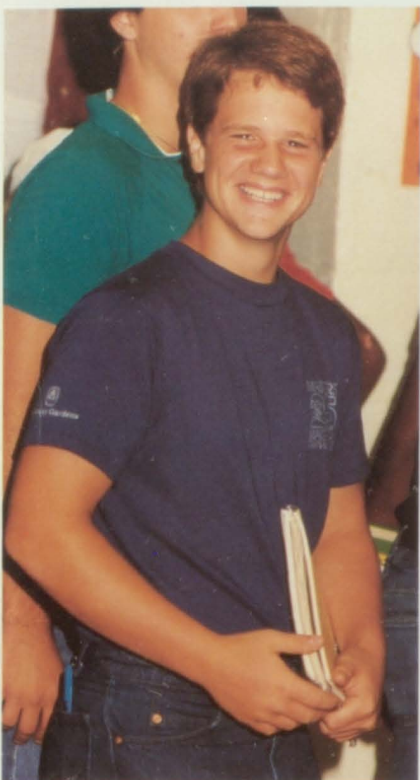

SO DIFFERENT . . .

Getting to school offers pleasure, excitement, and variety. For some, it can be unusual. There are some who prefer the uninhibited experience of bike and motorcycle riding. Some prefer the luxury and sophistication of driving. Some like communing with nature through their walks. Necessity and convenience offers the city bus, and if you're lucky, you can take the school bus.

YET SO ALIKE

The manner in which one arrives at his destination is our idea of transportation — Our destination is school — we bring a number of personalities with us, with one journey — education.

SO DIFFERENT

Trends, lifestyles, social backgrounds, the intellectual, the talented, the ROTC, all reflect a uniqueness and distinction found at Central. We are a colorful and live group — we create, we cheer, and we are sometimes noisy. Each student is a separate being offering color and contrast through his or her actions.

YET SO ALIKE

Differences at Central are easily translated into a oneness. There is that pride and dignity which crowns our endeavors. We achieve, we struggle, we cry, we rejoice, and above all we life together as students of Central High School.

FOOTBALL

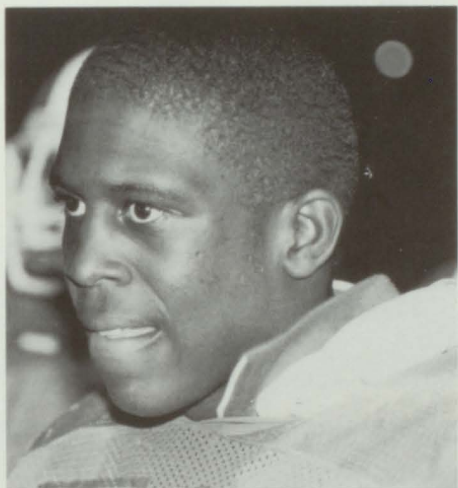

The Central Chargers football team couldn't have made it through the 1983 season if it had not been for three important things. These were (1) the support and faithfulness of the coaches, (2) the character that the team had as a whole, and (3) beginning each week as a new challenge and wanting to win each game.

The five coaches this year were: Head Coach Tom Simonton, Mike Hall, Steve Smith, Richard Plagge, and Ron Little. The Coaches all realized that they were working with a young and inexperienced team this season, and never once gave up on them. They worked with the team week after week and never let them down. They each earned the respect of every player for all their hard work, starting at the first day of spring practice right up until the last game of the season.

Probably one of the biggest moments of the season was when the Chargers defeated Douglass 21 to 15 for Coach Simonton's 100th career victory on October 1st.

The players practiced and played hard all season. They steadily improved in every game. One specific thing that the head coaches of such teams as Warner Robins and Northside noticed was that Central came ready to play and played like they wanted to win. With a losing record, the players on the team could have easily quit and given up on the season, but they never did. They all wanted to win so badly that they worked hard at practice and tried to function as a team. Everyone on the team was a good person, and this really helped the team stay together. The fans saw nothing more than the scoreboard, but after every game, the players still saw themselves as a team that wanted to win.

This was proven in the last game of the season, when Central went up against cross town rival, Southwest. Central was down at halftime 7 to 0, but they came back in the third quarter to tie it and then tied it again in the fourth quarter at 14 to 14. The game went into overtime, and Southwest got the ball first and scored, but missed the extra point. When Central got the ball, they drove it 80 yards to score and tie the game at 20 a piece. With a climatic ending, the extra point was good and Central defeated Southwest 21-20. With a happy ending, the Central Chargers football team proved that they are winners.

ROOKIES SHOW PROMISE FOR 1984 SEASON

Our Central Chargers took the field this year with several rookies, including Andre Russell. Andre made many great plays against arch-rival Southwest, including a touchdown which put the Chargers into overtime against Southwest.

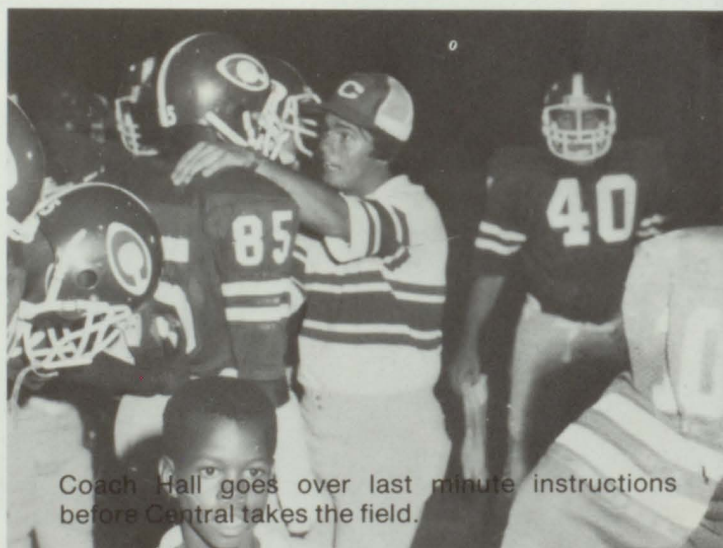

Quarterback Emmett Glover brings Central up to the line as the Chargers prepare to score.

Central fights hard against Southwest.

Moving right along.

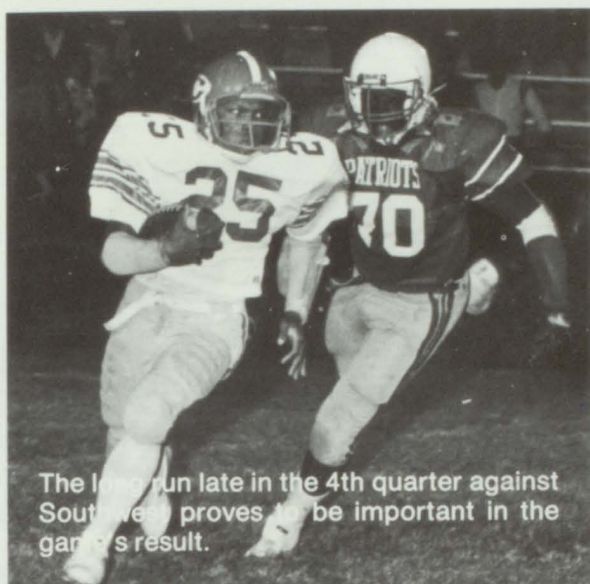

Coach Hall goes over last minute instructions before Central takes the field.

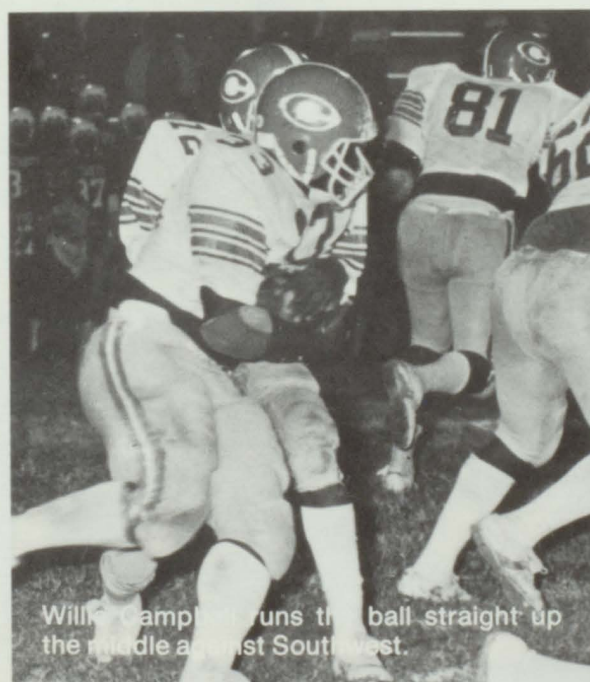

The loose ball attracts a lot of attention!

John Mynatt puts the ball through the uprights.

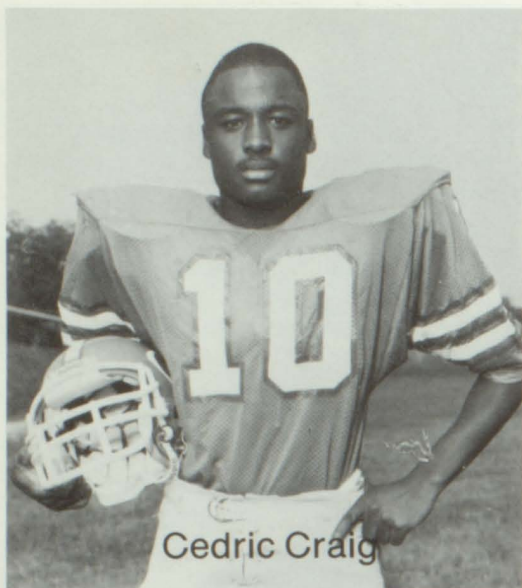

The late run late in the 4th quarter against Southwest proves to be important in the game's result.

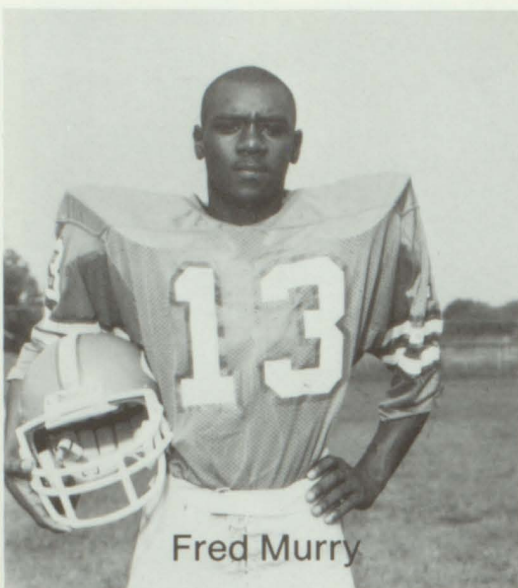

Willie Campbell runs the ball straight up the middle against Southwest.

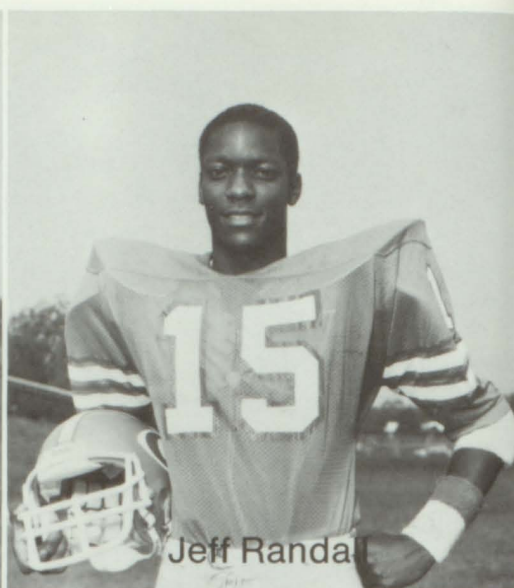

Senior Mike Harris looks on and thinks about a possible Central victory.

Cheer, Cheerleaders Cheer! Stretch, stretch, jump, jump, and Cheer, Cheerleader, cheer . . . The prospective cheerleader enters the gym with high hopes, high spirits, but of course no high heels. Once the training begins, there is no place for high heels. Getting in shape is at the top of the agenda. You must stretch muscles that you have never stretched before, run around the track and then run ever more. Later, you learn the basics such as jumps. Have you ever done a herkie? How about an abstract? Just remember to point those toes. Yes, like that. Then the cheers, they are most important. Do them with no broken wrists or flying arms. You must make distinct motions. Cheer loud, be cheerful, and full of emotion . . . That is what you learn for tryouts. Without a doubt, you must project spirit. On the final day, all that is learned in two weeks comes to a peak. Smiling, cheering, and chanting, one faces the judges. Now that is a real cheerleader. The cheerleader leaves the gym with even higher spirits. Once a cheerleader, there are football and basketball games once, twice, and even three times a week. High moments, low moments, but more bright than bleak. A cheerleader is always in high gear. Cheer, Cheerleader, Cheer!

Annual Sales, Misty Parker

It has been a year of new beginnings for Central High School's Pegasus. The staff has been under the direction of Mr. James Caldwell, who has worked tirelessly with the members of the staff. Taylor Publishing Company and its representative, Tamara Smith, have provided innovative ideas to make the annual more exciting for the student body. But, as usual, the successful production of the Pegasus was dependent upon the commitment of the staff. This year's staff realized their responsibilities and had a great desire to produce a prize winning yearbook.

During the year, I often asked myself, "Why did I agree to advise the annual?" The search for an answer to that question often brought frustration and sometimes regret. It seems that the year has been a swift and moving one, and I find it difficult to believe that I now pen the advisor's note to the final pages of our book. Moreover, the question of "why" answers itself with the realization of the many intangibles derived from having completed an almost insurmountable task. My heart goes out to all the teachers and students who have each in their way made our production a success.

The purpose of the yearbook for this year was to creatively present a truthful and exciting account of the good and bad times at Central High. Our one constant goal was to capture the ideas, traditions, highlights, victories, and losses of the school. We have worked hard to show through our theme the total atmosphere of the school — the cultural differences, the people, and their lifestyles. Equal attention has been placed on that strong force of unity that binds us together — students of Central High striving to learn, achieve, and survive. My best wishes to all of you.

MISS CENTRAL PRECIOUS ROBINSON

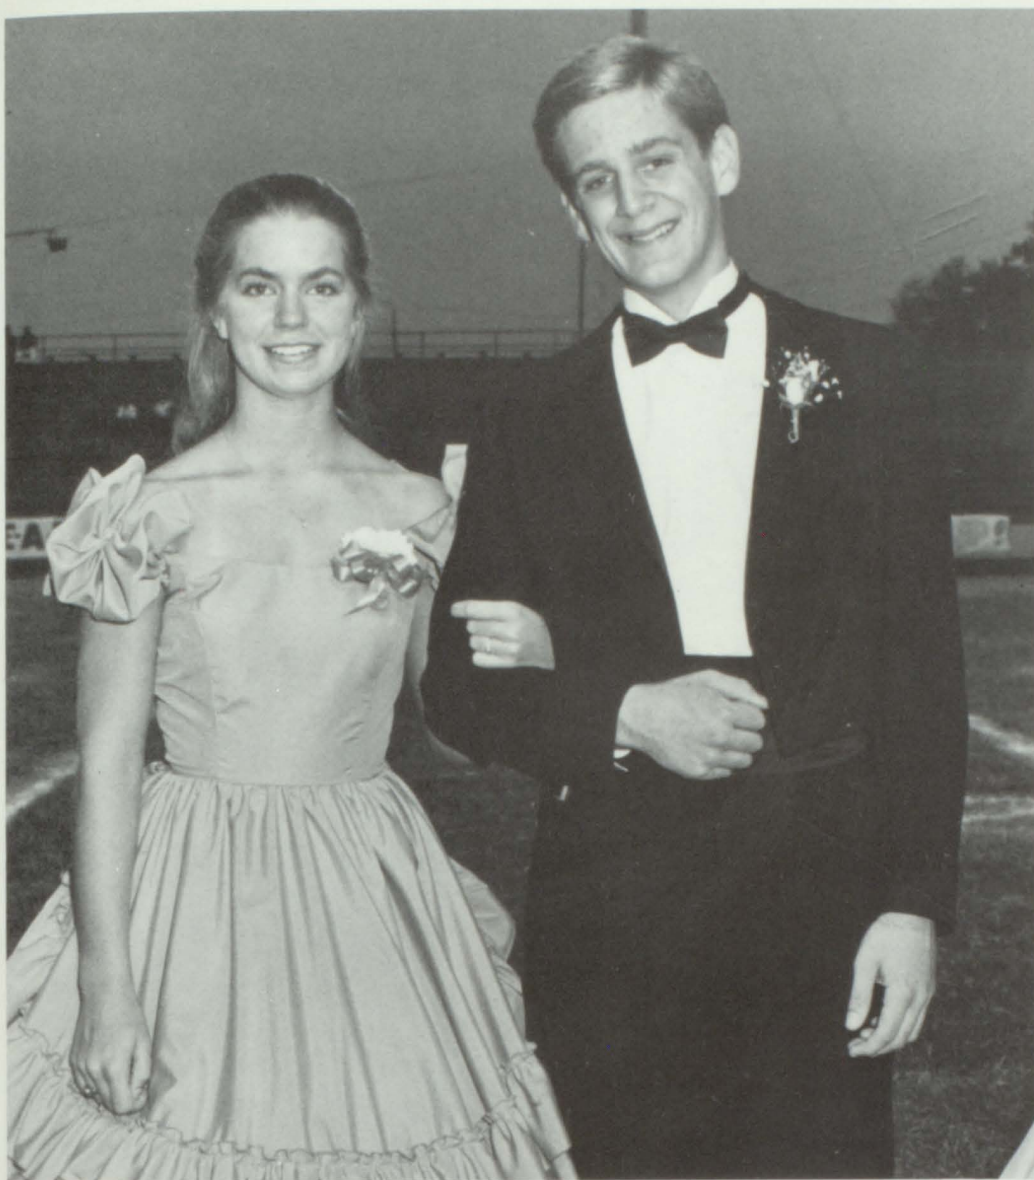

Thirteen lovely contestants for Central shared the limelight on the evening of September 17. Each girl sat nervously on the edge of her seat waiting for half-time during the game with Newton. "If You Believe" was performed by the band and carried melodically into the stands at the start of the half-time program. The long awaited moment of the announcement of the winners brought forth the news of the evening. Miss Central 1984 was Precious Robinson and Cedric Craig was crowned Mr. Central. First runners-up were Debbie Gilland and Reginald Russell.

Superlatives

Senior Superlatives were nominated by teachers and counselors. The sixty students chosen were screened by the faculty, and then voted on by the Senior Class. The forty students selected had to have an average of 2.75 or above and must have been involved in several high school activities, which were rated on a point system.

Precious Robinson entered Central High School with high expectations about high school life. She hasn't been let down. Precious has been honored by being elected Senior Class President, Miss Central, and a Senior Superlative. She was selected to be a representative for Central at Girls' State, where she was elected a Senator to attend Girls' Nation. She has won the T. A. Sappington Award for promoting better health and was a Governor's Honors Semi-finalist.

Suroptimist

Students for the Suroptimist Award are nominated on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, and leadership qualities.

1983 Governor's Honors Finalists

The Governor's Honors Program is a six week summer instructional program. It is designed to provide intellectually gifted and artistically talented students challenging and enriching educational opportunities, which are not usually available during the regular school year.

Academic Bowl

The Academic Bowl Team members are selected through tryouts by Mr. Pettigrew, who asks them numerous questions. The top four are chosen. Contests are held at Mercer, Southwestern, and Macon Jr., as well as other colleges.

Boys' State and Girls' State

Boys' and Girls' State is a program for young Georgians possessing outstanding leadership qualities and traits. They were selected to spend one week on the campus of a Georgia college. These students are exposed to practical politics and government. Two students from the state were elected by their peers to spend a week in Washington. This program is sponsored by the American Legion.

STAR STUDENT AND TEACHER

A determined, hard working student, Stephanie Anderson is a warm and quiet young lady with an attitude towards her work that should be an example to every student — the desire to work, to learn, and to achieve. Her brilliance is further exemplified in a staggering SAT score of 1430. It is because of this score that Stephanie has been chosen STAR STUDENT for Central. She has chosen as her STAR TEACHER Mrs. Van Wood, Mankind teacher for grades 8-12. Says Stephanie of Mrs. Wood: "I feel that Mrs. Wood has helped me more than any other teacher I have ever had. She is a brilliant teacher and a great lady."

Emily Campbell has been one of Central's outstanding students for the past three years. During her senior year she was nominated for the U.S. Senate Youth Program, Century III leadership program, D.A.R. Citizenship Award, in addition to being nominated by Central for the Youth of the Year Award, Emily has won the Westinghouse Science Talent Search Award and was the Macon Exchange Club's October Student of the Month.

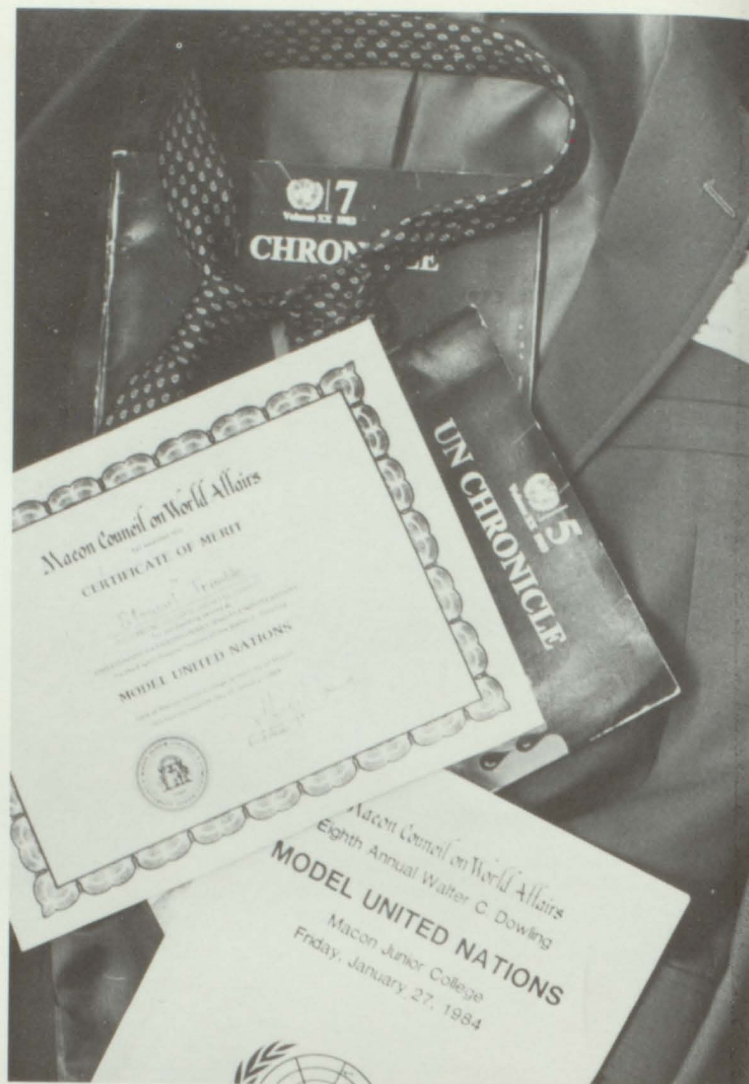

FOREIGN RELATIONS

CAMILLE HERRING — '83

"Foreign Relations is one of the most exciting and rewarding courses that I have ever taken. It gave me knowledge and experiences that I will always have and remember." By being in Foreign Relations, my class and I were able to go to Washington, D.C., and attend the twentieth North American Invitational Model United Nations. This in itself was an experience of a lifetime. By participating in the Model United Nations, we increased our understanding of national and foreign policies, strengthened our oratorical and debate skills, and met new and interesting people from all over the United States. We were also able to tour the many sites and to attend cultural events of the city. An unexpected, but exciting experience was being in the big blizzard of 1983. Many old friendships were strengthened and many new friendships were formed during our year of Foreign Relations. I'll always remember Foreign Relations and I'm grateful that I had the opportunity to take this course.

Friday, Jan. 27, 1984, the Macon Council on World Affairs held a Walter C. Dowling Model United Nations at Macon Junior College. At this event, Central won four out of the six awards given.

On Feb. 14, 1984, the foreign relations students from Central traveled to Washington, D.C. to participate in the North America Invitational Model United Nations.

NAIMUN provides good stimulation of the conduct of international relations. It also teaches them about diplomacy and foreign policies of different nations.

SPEAKING

When one speaks of success, the terms "confident," "capable," and "ambitious" come to mind. Tim Ellis possesses these qualities. He is determined to reach the goals he sets for himself, and he has indeed been successful thus far in the completion of these goals. Here, he has only begun his climb to the top.

Andrea Fambro is a diligent, dependable, and hardworking student — a perfectionist who usually achieves this perfection in every aspect of her life, outside school as well as in the classroom. She is a bright young lady with an even brighter future ahead of her.

Ray Scott is a musician with a flair for the diverse — he not only plays tenor saxophone for the Sugar Bear Band, he has been playing the baritone saxophone as well, in addition to 3 years of piano. He is the leader for his section, as well as co-captain of the band, a title he shares with Tim Ellis. He has been chosen, along with Jennifer Rowell, to tour Europe this summer with the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band.

Jennifer Rowell is a very talented young musician with 11 years of piano, as well as 4 years of clarinet under her belt. She is 1st chair in the Sugar Bear Band for her clarinet section. She is very "instrumental" in the overall structure of the band and her talent shines through more in each performance. Along with Ray Scott, she has been chosen to tour Europe in the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band in the summer of '84.

Beauty is only skin deep, but Samantha Houser's beauty goes far beneath her skin. She possesses an inner glow and a sweet friendly disposition which brings this beauty within to the surface.

It's not too often that one sees Debbie Gilland with anything but a friendly smile on her face. She is a most congenial, considerate, and generally amiable young lady. She is well liked by her peers, and a joy to those she comes in contact with.

With a personality as bright and sparkling as his smile, Charles Corbett is friendly, well mannered, and well liked by the general consensus of his peers. He is truly deserving of his title "Most Courteous" boy of the Senior Class.

OF SENIORS

Kimberley Mays, a most athletic young lady, has powered the Chargers to excellence with her outstanding performance in both basketball and track. She is also a member of the drill team, and participates in the ROTC program.

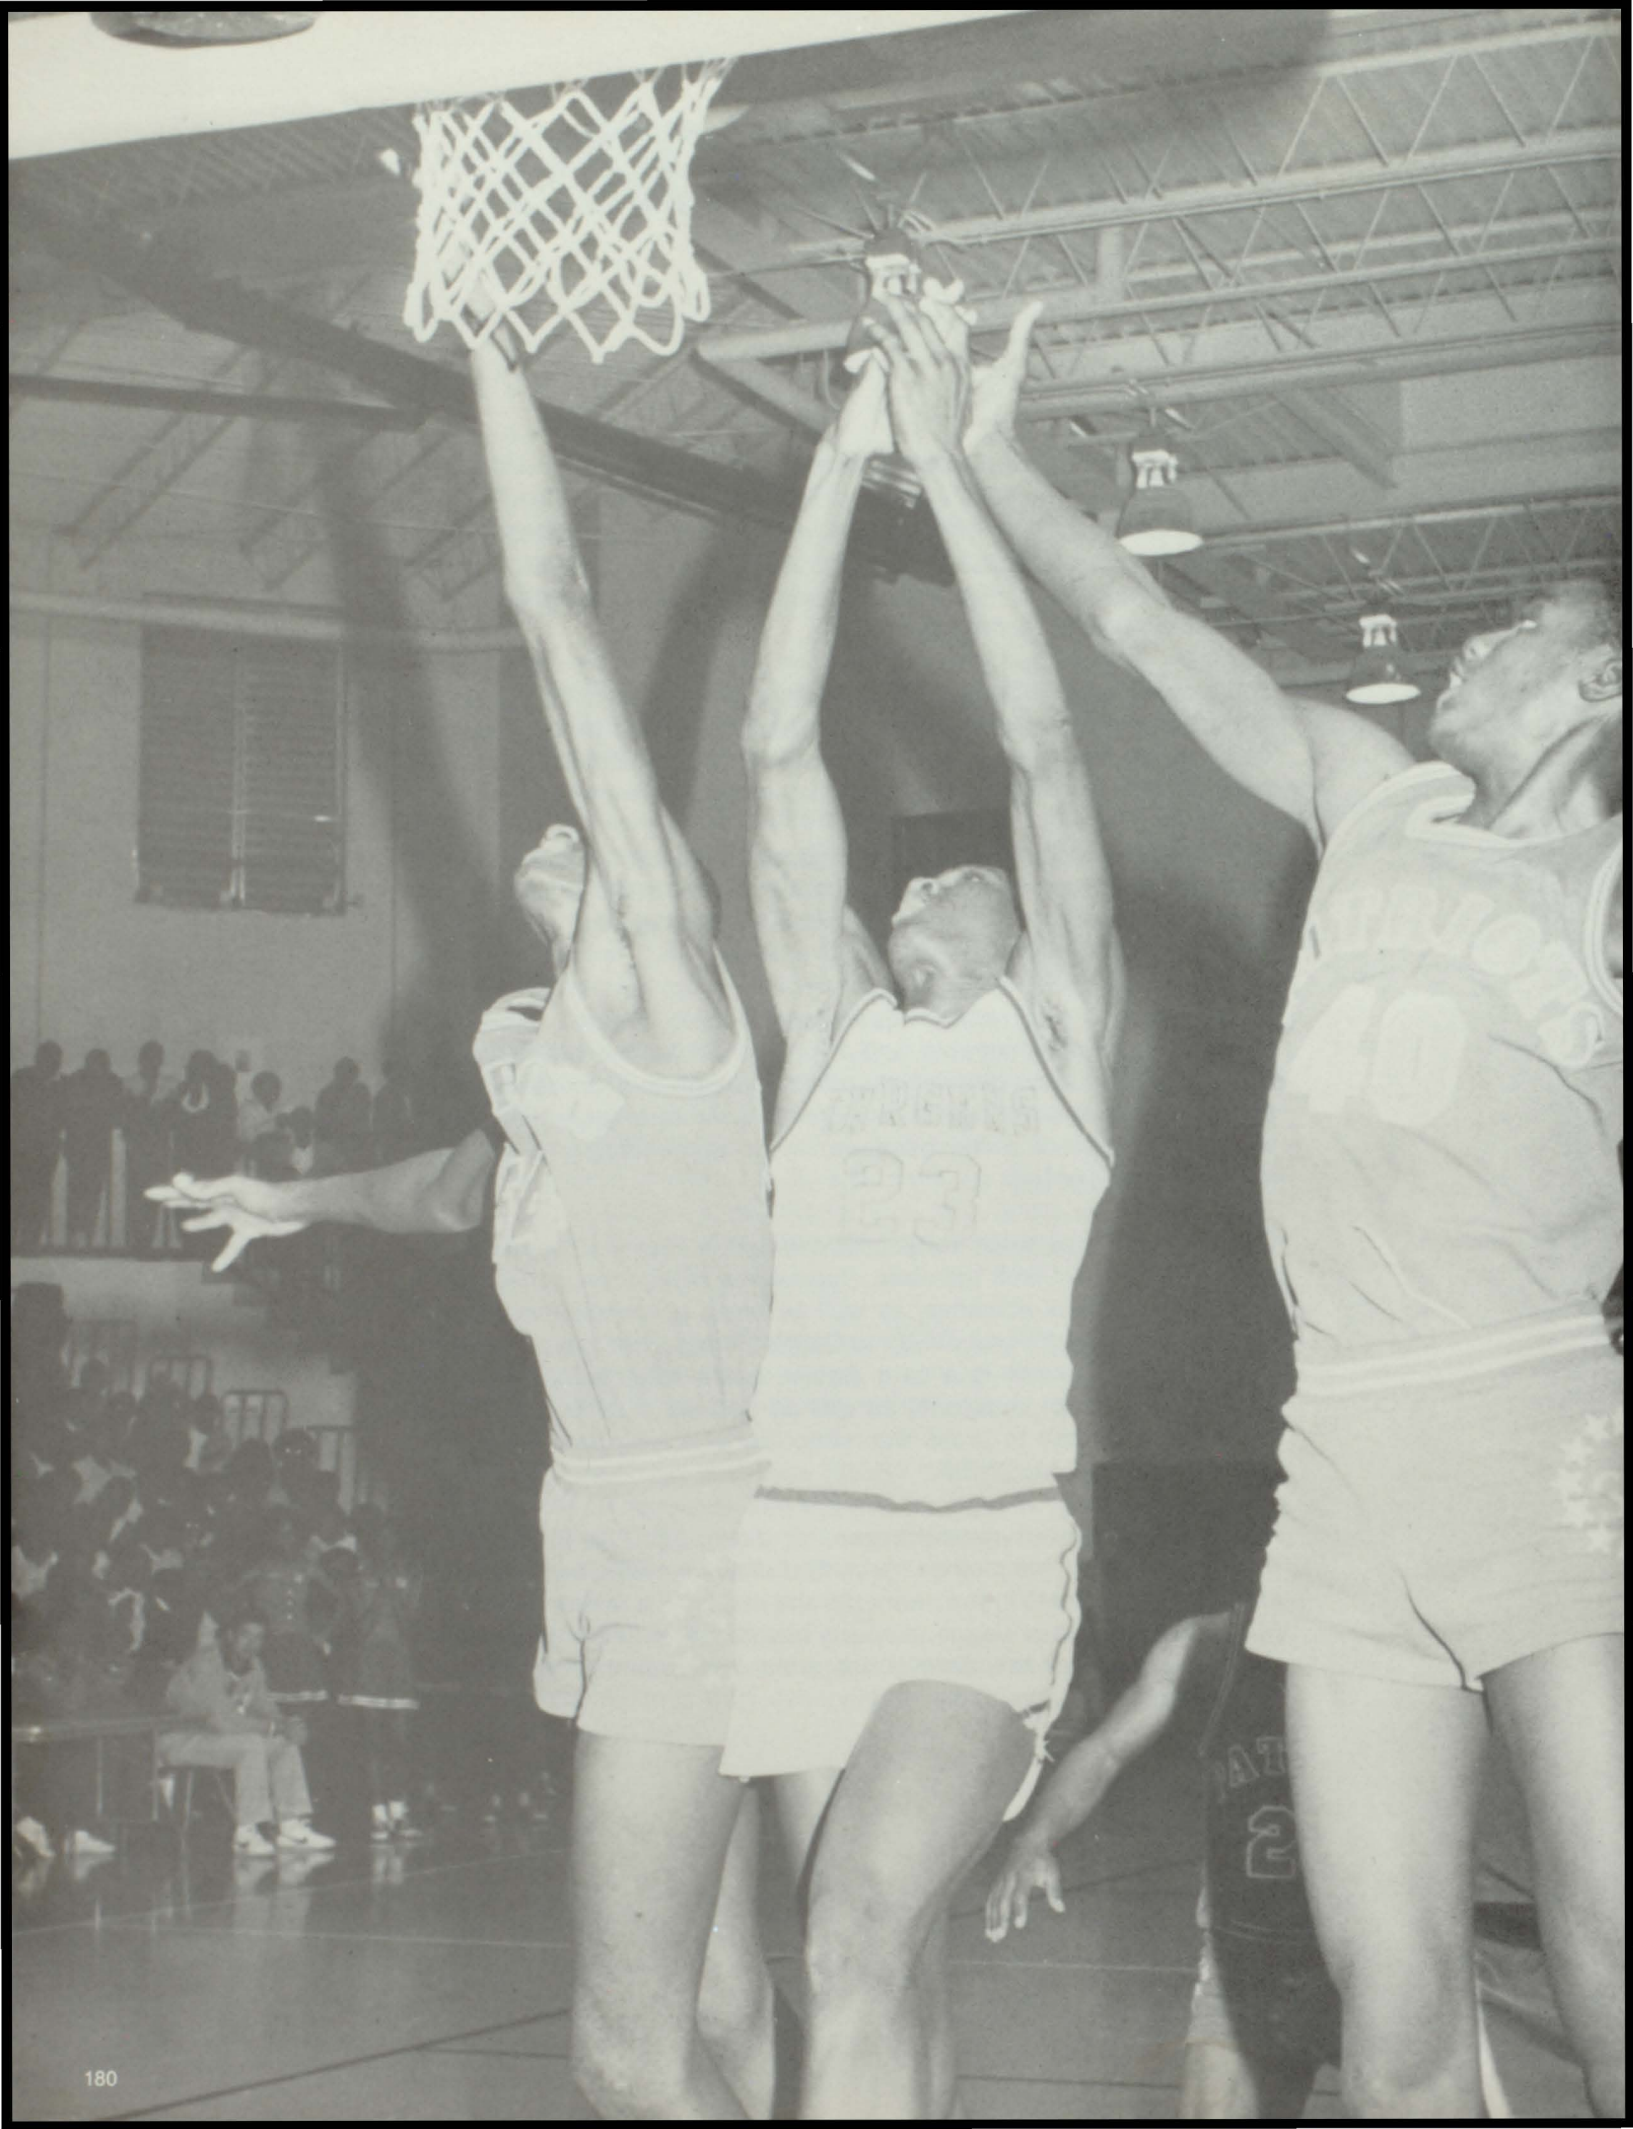

A devoted, hard working young athlete, Chris Rainey's first love is, and has always been, basketball. Through his desire to achieve excellence, he has averaged 26 points per game this season and has been a major factor in our Chargers' extremely successful season.

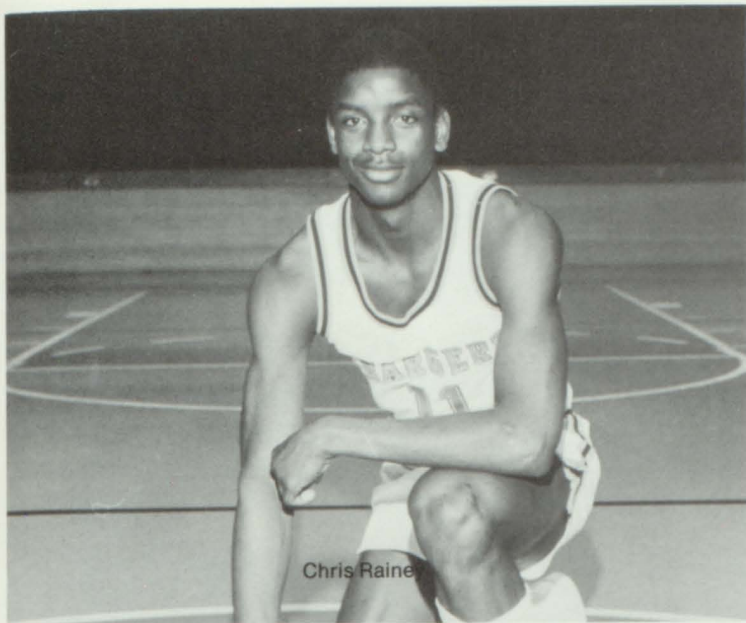

Among the handsome faces at Central, Jodon Slaughter's is thought to be especially so. A charming manner, a wonderfully stylish wardrobe, and a sparkling smile are all pluses that add up to an all around attractive young man.

Innovation is a key word in describing Ronnie Cherry's mode of dress. He is ultra fashionable, and a very, very diverse in his choice of clothing — one day, donning the classic preppy button down, and penny loafers, and the next day, a French coat, boots, and the punk wardrobe staple of a red bandana. He is unmistakably a fashion leader here at Central.

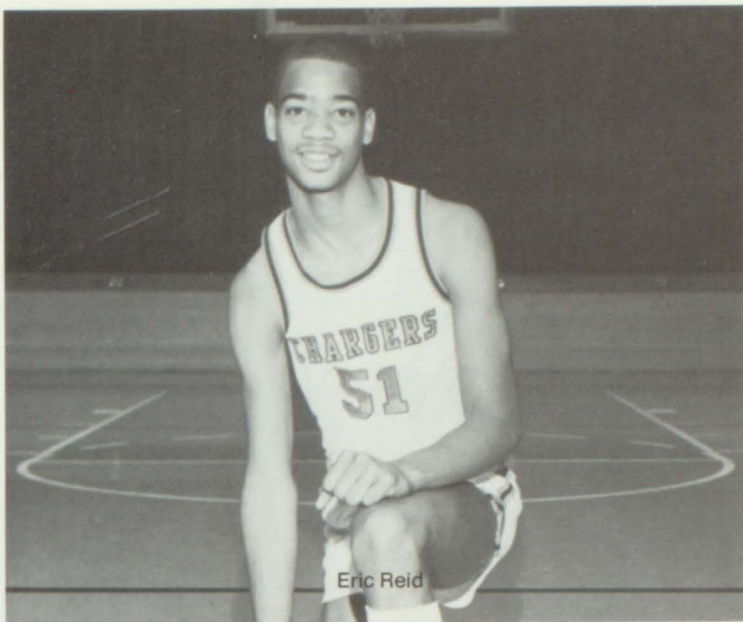

One face that stands out in the crowd is that of Reginald Russell. An active Student Council member, Reginald is highly supportive of a great many school activities, as well as being a conscientious student. He was also first runner up to Cedric Craig for the coveted "Mr. CHS" award. A smile is a sure sign of one's spirit, and Reginald always has one for everyone, as well as a cheerful greeting and a humorous witticism to break the monotony of a long day. Reginald Russell IS CENTRAL SPIRIT!

It is said that "clothes make the man," and although Julie Peale is far from being a man, her clothes certainly do have it made. She exhibits extremely good taste in the garments she wears — a tasteful mixture of high fashion dress wear and sporty casual attire. She is always up to date, and chooses accessories which become her wardrobe beautifully.

It's nice when people know your name.

According to a recent study of well-known national trademarks by Public Relations Journal, Elsie was the most widely recognized. Over 93% of the people questioned identified Elsie with Borden.

For forty years, people have associated Elsie with Borden quality. She represents the flavor, freshness and value we've built our name on. And we're proud of the fact that she's so well-known.

If it's Borden, it's got to be good.
